What is a Community Health Improvement Plan?

A community-centered and data-driven blueprint for better health.
Plan Summary

The Community Health Improvement Plan (CHIP) 2025 is our community’s roadmap and action plan for addressing the most important health issues in Alexandria. The City’s 2019 Community Health Assessment found that most Alexandrians are healthy. However, there are clear and sometimes significant health differences among Alexandrians depending on their income, race or ZIP code.

Over the course of 17 months, hundreds of community members came together to address priority health issues in our City—housing, mental health and poverty. Community members identified the root causes of these health issues and developed strategies and tactics to address them over the next several years.

During the CHIP’s development, our community and the nation were impacted by three historic crises—the COVID-19 pandemic, an economic crisis and a racial and social justice crisis. Although a large part of the CHIP was developed in 2019, community members virtually convened in 2020 to ensure that the final CHIP reflected the reality of health, economic and racial and social issues.
This CHIP was also influenced by the work of related City plans. In 2019, the timing of revisions to three major city-related plans coincided—the Alexandria City Public Schools’ Strategic Plan, the Department of Community and Human Services’ Children and Youth Master Plan and the Alexandria Health Department and the Partnership for a Healthier Alexandria’s CHIP. These organizations established a Unified Planning Team to collectively develop these plans, to maximize collective community engagement, share important data and focus on shared outcomes.

Hundreds of community members came together to develop this community-centered health plan to address the root causes of housing, mental health and poverty and that is a major accomplishment to celebrate. However, the publication of this plan is not the end, but rather the beginning. Many community members and organizations signed on to implement the plan’s strategies and tactics.

The Partnership and the Health Department will monitor the progress of the CHIP’s strategies and tactics and periodically report out to the community. The CHIP is also not a static plan. There will be opportunities for the community to revise part of the plan to address new issues and challenges that did not exist when the CHIP was developed.

This CHIP doesn’t work if it sits on a shelf. We need as many community members as possible to get involved in implementation to make a difference. You can have an impact. Start today.
Where We Are

Within the City of Alexandria, there are health differences based on income, race, and ZIP code.

These differences are a result of decades of discriminatory policies and systems that are now built into City processes, our environment, and how community and organizational decisions are made. The global pandemic, economic crisis, and racial and social injustice in 2020 only exacerbated these differences in health.

Where We're Going

The CHIP is a blueprint to address poverty, mental health, and housing policies and systems. With the right conditions in place, we will improve health and well-being for everyone who lives, works and plays in the City of Alexandria. It was coordinated by the Alexandria Health Department and the Partnership for a Healthier Alexandria, and built by a diverse group of residents and stakeholders who committed their time, experience, and passion.

Join us to implement these solutions and create the healthiest possible Alexandria for both today and tomorrow.
CHIP DEVELOPMENT AT A GLANCE

OCT 2019
Community members narrow the 2019 Community Health Assessment’s 10 health issues to three priorities: mental health, housing, and poverty. Meeting attendees analyze the root causes of those issues.

NOV 2019
Hundreds of mental health, poverty, and housing solutions are submitted during a series of public brainstorms. Solutions address the root causes of current issues.

JAN 2020
Community member workgroups score the solutions on whether the ideas address equity and could have community support. Workgroup members contact potential champions to lead and support these efforts.

MARCH 2020
Workgroup members and strategy champions research best and promising practices to identify which tactics will work for Alexandria’s specific needs.

MAY 2020-MARCH 2021
Workgroups revisit CHIP strategies with a COVID-19 lens and modify tactics accordingly.

JUNE 2021
CHIP implementation and monitoring begins.
SELECTING PRIORITIES

More than 100 community members gathered on October 5, 2019 to review the findings from Alexandria’s Community Health Assessment during a public meeting. Attendees included a mix of residents, non-profits, civic associations, faith-based groups, city agency staff, and business leaders. Participants learned about the City’s top ten health issues and the disparities that underlie each one. After considering the data, each participant cast votes selecting the top priority areas for the CHIP: mental health, poverty, and housing. The meeting participants then discussed the root causes behind each priority area.

UNDERSTANDING THE ROOTS

Health Department staff and Partnership Steering Committee members used community member feedback to develop root cause fishbone models for each priority area. These models explore the policies and systems leading to poor mental health, poverty, and unaffordable housing in Alexandria.

BRAINSTORM SOLUTIONS

Alexandria Health Department and the Partnership hosted a series of public meetings on November 4, 6, and 12, 2019 to brainstorm ideas that address housing, mental health, and poverty. About 30–60 community members attended each meeting, representing a variety of residents, advocacy organizations, schools, non-profits, boards and commissions, and city agencies. Prior to each meeting, the Health Department and the Partnership did intentional outreach to ensure a diverse racial and ethnic makeup to reflect Alexandria’s population. Participants were encouraged to raise solutions that directly addressed root causes rather than the surface level needs. Over the three meetings, participants generated more than 700 ideas. Health Department staff categorized and sorted all the solution ideas into buckets of strategies and tactics for consideration.
Following the brainstorming sessions, dedicated community members joined topic-specific workgroups to prioritize the strategies based on equity, impact, and community support.

The workgroups scored the strategies using a survey tool to consider:

Equity

Does this solution directly reduce an existing disparity, or difference, in outcomes, opportunities, or quality of life between groups of people?

Potentially impacted groups of people include—but are not limited to—people of color, women, people with disabilities, seniors, and those who are LGBTQ+.

Community Support

Does this strategy fit with Alexandria values and could it have support from our community?

Could education and engagement build community support for this strategy?
How likely is this strategy to achieve community-wide results?

A group of Health Department staff and Partnership Steering Committee members also rated each strategy by impact. How likely is this strategy to achieve community-wide results?

- Individual = Strategy impacts an individual’s personal knowledge, skills, and beliefs.

- Relationship/Organizations = Strategy impacts networks, such as peer groups (e.g. family and friends) and social networks, or institutions such as faith-based organizations, schools, and workplaces.

- Community/Society = Strategy impacts community-level conditions, such as the built environment, access, relationship between agencies/organizations, and public policies, regulations, and laws.
RESEARCH METHODS

The Alexandria Health Department and the Partnership Steering Committee developed a research guide to help identify whether any of the selected strategies or tactics have been implemented in other communities. Workgroup members were encouraged to conduct research so that the group could design the most effective intervention possible and measure whether anyone is better off. Participants submitted dozens of studies or examples of these interventions implemented in other communities. The workgroups met on February 25, 2020 to discuss research and continue identifying champions and metrics of success.

ADAPT TACTICS

Although the CHIP was nearly finalized at the end of February 2020, all work on the plan was paused to quickly shift Alexandria Health Department staff to pandemic response efforts. In May 2020, the Partnership Steering Committee began revisiting the CHIP strategies and tactics to determine if they were still appropriate. Community workgroups were reconvened virtually in October and November for a final discussion on how the CHIP should adapt based on the effects of COVID-19, racial and social upheaval, and the economic impacts of a global pandemic. Additionally, the CHIP was reviewed to ensure alignment with the principles and concepts included in the Alexandria City Council's Resolution No. 2974, All Alexandria: Committing to Race and Social Equity, adopted on January 23, 2021.

Using this feedback, the Alexandria Health Department and the Partnership Steering Committee updated the CHIP to reflect Alexandria's new reality.
In 2019, the timing of revisions to three major citywide plans coincided—the Alexandria City Public Schools’ Strategic Plan, the Department of Community and Human Services’ Children and Youth Master Plan, and the Alexandria Health Department and the Partnership for a Healthier Alexandria’s Community Health Improvement Plan. These organizations established a Unified Planning Team in the spring of 2019 to develop their plans collectively. This coordination provided added value to each by maximizing community engagement opportunities, sharing important data, and focusing on shared outcomes.

While developing these plans is important, implementing them successfully is even more critical. As a result, the Unified Planning Team will evolve into a Unified Implementation Team to continue the partnership over the next five years and ensure alignment of actions, community engagement, data use, and resource sharing, when possible. These plans will also be implemented in tandem with shared commitments to racial equity, trauma-informed care and a developmental assets approach. Learn more about the Children and Youth Master Plan 2025 and ACPS’ Strategic Plan 2025 online at the Partnership’s website.
Priority Areas

Community members selected housing, mental health and poverty as priority areas from the Community Health Assessment’s top 10 health issues.
Putting the CHIP into Action

Each priority area is connected to strategies, tactics, timelines, progress measures, and tactic owners.

Developing strategies and tactics, measuring progress and identifying owners is the difference between wishful thinking and getting things done.

The Partnership’s Steering Committee will provide periodic reports to the community of the progress in addressing the CHIP’s three priority areas. The Steering Committee and Health Department will also help overcome any obstacles or barriers that might slow the implementation of a tactic or strategy.

Timeline
Sets the parameters for when a tactic will be started and completed.

Progress Measures
How we know we are making a difference even before the project is complete. Progress measures include both outputs and outcomes when possible.

Tactic Owners
Organizations and individuals who will facilitate the work. The tactic owners report their progress, successes, and challenges to the Partnership Steering Committee.
Community conditions can create either opportunities or barriers for a healthy life. Clean, safe neighborhoods with ample green space, complete sidewalks, and low crime rates support physical activity. Housing quality, cost, stability, and safety can significantly influence health. For example, poor quality housing with issues such as lead paint, mold, and pests can trigger asthma flare-ups, particularly in children.

The high cost of housing is also a major issue in Alexandria, and individuals or families are often forced to make difficult decisions between paying their rent and affording medical care, groceries, childcare, and other basic necessities. Local data shows that housing stability is more difficult in certain ZIP codes within Alexandria.
Root Causes of Housing Concerns

None of the factors here exist in a vacuum. Individuals, institutions, culture, policy, and historical context shape each factor over generations. Discrimination such as racism, homophobia, sexism, and ableism—among others—have led to inequities throughout these topic areas. Solutions must address these inequities directly for an Alexandria that works for all residents. Highlighted factors were raised by community members during a 10/5 public meeting.

Mental Health

Mental health is important at every stage of life, and includes conditions and illnesses that affect thoughts, feelings, mood, and/or behavior. Mental health also includes emotional, psychological, and social well-being. An individual can experience poor mental health at different periods of their life and not be diagnosed with a mental illness. Similarly, a person living with a mental illness can experience periods of physical, mental, and social well-being.

Mental health conditions and illnesses can be long-term, short-term, and can be recurring. Mental health and physical health are closely related—mental illness increases the risk of physical health problems and living with a chronic condition can increase the risk of mental illness.

Poverty

Improving or maintaining optimal health requires financial resources. For example, health insurance is crucial for access to many healthcare services, but health coverage can be expensive, especially for those without coverage through an employer. Individuals may decide to postpone care because of these costs, which could lead to worse health outcomes for conditions such as cancer and diabetes.

Outside of direct healthcare, behavior and lifestyle changes such as eating healthier meals and living in neighborhoods with access to parks, healthy foods, and transit can be out of reach. Finally, poverty can take a significant toll on mental health. The constant stress of living in unstable conditions, struggling to pay bills, and long work hours can exacerbate existing mental illness and affect child brain development.

Goal: Wealth building opportunities for all
Root Causes of Poverty

None of the factors here exists in a vacuum. Individuals, institutions, culture, policy, and historical context shape each factor over generations. Discrimination such as racism, homophobia, sexism, and ableism—among others—have led to inequities throughout these topic areas. Solutions must address these inequities directly for an Alexandria that works for all residents. Highlighted factors were raised by community members during a 10/5 public meeting.

Your Role

One of the CHIP’s greatest strengths is that it was developed through conversations and collaborations among a wide variety of community groups, residents of every age, members of City Boards and Commissions, and leaders and staff of Alexandria nonprofits, businesses and government.

While many community members and organizations are committed to implementing the CHIP, making the necessary structural and systemic changes require as many people and organizations as possible. Please consider how much you can and will commit—whether it’s an hour, a day, a week, a month or a year—to building an Alexandria that allows everyone to achieve a more healthy and prosperous life.

It was built by and for the community. Every person listed here was a part of that process.
